Not illustrated. 1876 edition. Excerpt: .in demonstrating their total want of consistency, those who uphold the use of vegetables alone are usually found to be still more egregious in the manner in which they actually carry their theories into practice. Dr. W. B. Carpenter estimated the average quantity of nonvegetable food consumed in the house of a friend of his, professing these untenable principles, to be considerably in excess of the animal food consumed by the members of his own household. The crude notions of monomaniacs on these subjects occasion, fortunately, but little injury, while they merely essay to demonstrate the effects upon their own persons; nature is almost invariably sufficiently powerful in its impulses to prevent them from undermining their constitutions by any too strict adhesion to their particular fancies. It is only when children, invalids, and others unable to select for themselves are forced and compelled to eke...
